DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:
 - (a) It appears "k=60" in line 24 of page 7 should be changed to --- $1 \leq k \leq 60$ ---.

Further, in the same line, the mathematical expression under Σ should be "n=25k+24" instead of "n=25k+25" (or, the applicant may change "n=25k" under Σ in line 22 to --- n=25k+1 ---; change "n=25k+1" under Σ in line 23 to --- n=25k+2 --- and change "k=60" in line 24 to --- $0 \leq k \leq 59$ ---).

- (b) It is not clear what the variable " i " in the mathematical expression $1 \leq i \leq 25$ in line 12 of page 9 is because the variable " i " has not been mentioned before. After comparing with the foreign priority document, it appears that "n=25k+i" under Σ in line 11 of page 9 to --- n=25k+i ---. However, such mathematical as written will not perform accumulation at the same sampling points of 60 neighboring symbols as indicated by the applicants (see line 13). Instead, it will perform accumulation for all (i.e., 25) sampling points of the 60th symbol. The applicant needs to correct the mathematical expression.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1-4, according to Fig. 2 and its associated description, the selection circuit 52 outputs the square of the difference between the mapped phase difference and a default phase value associated with each sampling point to a corresponding accumulator 531-533. Therefore, the selection circuit does not output the result of a phase difference of every sampling point as recited in lines 10-12 of claim 1.

1. Similarly, according to the specification, each of the accumulator 531-533 accumulates the square of the difference between the mapped phase difference and a default phase value associated with a particular sampling point and outputs the sum of the squared difference associated to that particular sampling point to the comparison module 54. Therefore, the claimed limitations "an accumulation module for accumulating phase differences of the same sampling points" in lines 15-16 and "a comparison module for comparing the sums of phase differences outputted from the accumulator" in lines 18-19 do not reflect the teaching of the specification.

Claims 5-8 are rejected because claim 5 also recites a comparison module for comparing the sums of phase differences" in line 17.

Claims 9-11 are rejected for the same reasons applied to claims 1-4 above.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
